NEWS AND VIEWS . . .

And What Have You By BOB CRAIG

The statement issued last Wed nesday morning by our local doctors came as quite a bombshell to most local citizens. This is natural since the thought of losing our hospital hits pretty close to all of us.

After talking to a number of people it becomes obvious that the statement issued left a lot of questions unanswered or at least left a lot of people in doubt as to what the problem is.

In the first place, the problem of the $84,500 claimed to have been overpaid by Medicare was not a question of fraud but one of accounting. It seems to us a little strange but Medicare will only pay cost for services performed. But then this is a typical government operation.

The problem comes when you try to decide what is cost. In operating the hospital, the doctors claim one figure as cost and the Medicare auditors claim another. Apparently the Medicare auditors have the last word.

Efforts are now being made to solve this problem with Medicare, but if these efforts fail, the big question is where do we go from here.

It appears to me that we are faced with three choices and none of them very good.

The first would be to just let the hospital close. In our way of thinking this is the worse of the three because of two things. One, our people want and deserve medical service and without a hospital this is next to impossible. The other is the economical impact the closing would have on Hamlin.

The second choice might be to find some other doctors who would come in and run the hospital under the present arrangement. But this choice is really more wishful thinking than anything else because doctors are just too hard to find.

The third choice seems to be forming a hospital district which would take over and run the hospital with the taxpayers underwriting any losses sustained in the operation of the hospital.

When you get right down to it, this third choice is the only practical one if something is not worked out with Medicare so that the present arrangement can be continued.

But even this choice is not without many problems. The biggest of these, at least at the present time, would seem to be the voters' disfavor of voting themselves another tax.

Most of the other problems are technical and it is likely that a good many conferences would have to be held with Medicare officials, other hospital officials, the local doctors and experts in the field of hospital

Like everyone else I have about had it up to here with taxes but in light of the economic impact the closing of the hospital would have on Hamlin, I would have to support such a tax if there seemed to be no other choice. I am convinced that in the long run this would be the cheapest way out from the standpoint of paying taxes. If the hospital were to close I am afraid that the loss of income to Hamlin, both from the standpoint of the local payroll and the number of people who come to Hamlin for medical attention and trade with the local merchants while here, would create an even more serious problem

Part of this loss would be reflected in the ability to pay the present city. county and school taxes. And for those left to pay these taxes it is quite possible that they might see their share coming to more than what a hospital district tax might be.

Let us hope that the current crisis can be solved, but if it comes down to it, I hope you will think a long time before you let Hamlin be without a hospital.

The second big Sidewalk Bazaar will be held here Saturday as the Retail Trade Committee of the BCD has extended a special invitation to all of the people of the area to come take part in this big downtown Garage Sale.

Called by various names, Sidewalk Sale, Sidewalk Bazaar or Flea

Market, the big day is expected to draw people from all over this area to town Saturday. It is the hope of the committee chairman, Joe Cortez, that everyone will bring their odds and ends to town that day for the big

Special arrangements are being made for the downtown merchants to assist in finding places for the tables and booths of those taking part.

In conjunction with the big day the local merchants are taking part by offering special buys during this one day. They will be out on the sidewalks joining the individuals and families, with their many bargains.

The merchants planning the big

it is also the hope of the Retail Trade group that more people will bring their goods to town for this special sale.

Mayor Hollis Madden said here Tuesday that the $150,000 Sewer Bond Election called here Saturday, Oct. 9, will not require an increase in city taxes. He said that the recent increase in sewer rates will bring in enough revenue to pay off the bonds.

The bond election has been called to finance a sewage treatment plant to meet the requirements of the Texas Water Quality Control Board, the Texas Department of Health and the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration.

About $100,000 of the $150,000 issue will be used for the city's share of the cost of the new plant and for land purchases for the site. The balance of the issue will be used only if necessary to extend the present sewer system. It is the thought of the engineers for the city that the federal government is likely to require the city to extend its sewer service before approving the project.

If the additional monies are not needed the bonds will not be

Madden said that there would be no need for a tax increase unless the government comes up with more projects that the city must undertake. He pointed out that in the past two years the city has been required to

New New Program to Help Pre-school Children

The Tri-County Education Coop has been formed by the public schools of Fisher, Jones, and Stonewall Counties. General offices will be in Stamford.

The counselor, Mrs. Mona Conger met with the parents of the pre-school children on Wednesday Sept. 15 in the Primary School Cafetorium. At that time Mrs. Conger discussed the goals of the program with the parents. Appointments were set up for the first evaluation of the 3, 4, and 5 year old children.

The purpose of developmental early childhood education programs for exceptional children is to provide instructional educational services to children 3, 4, and 5 years old who need special help before they reach the regular academic program.

Initial screening of all preschool children has been almost completed. Parents whose children are this age and have not been contacted are asked to call the Primary school (576-3881) for an appointment.

The staff consists of 15 Resource Teachers, four teacher-aides, and four Supportive Personnel. It is headed by Pete Lollar, former elementary principal in Anson. The two teachers working with the program in Hamlin are Mrs. Carrie Tucker and Miss Carolyn Gardner, both of Abilene. These teachers have been especially trained for this work.

When classes are organized time periods will range from a half hour to a half day, depending upon the need of the child Children may come as seldom as once a week or as often as every day. Every child will be taught according to an individual educational plan, drawn up for him from observation and appraisal instruments.

Neinda Philosopher Has Advice for People Who Want to Leave the U.S.

Editor's note: The Neinda Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Route One has some reflections on the state of the United States this week, approximately.

Dear editar:

A man who can't find something to complain about in this country just isn't trying, but some people, according to an article I read in a newspaper last night when I found out the new television season is about the same as the last one, have so much to complain about they'd like to move out.

Twelve percent of the population, according to a Gallup poll, would like to pull up stakes and move to another country. They say there's too much pollution, too much inflation, too much social unrest, etc. The United States.

I got to thinking. Where would they go, for example, to escape pollution? There's not a major river in the world that isn't polluted, from the Thames in England to the Rhine in Germany to the Seine in France.

The Nile, the Danube, you name it, it's polluted. Why, I read just last night that they once beautiful lakes of Switzerland are so polluted all swimming has been banned and circuses won't even let their elephants wash off in them. How about inflation? According to figures I've got right here in front of me, in the last five years inflation in the U.S. has increased living costs 25 percent. In Japan the increase has been 30 percent, in England 32 percent, in Brazil 40 percent. Rents have risen 40 percent in France, meat has gone up 58 percent in England, 33 percent in Australia. Hospital costs have skyrocketed all over the world except in some parts of Africa where they don't have

And so it goes. Anybody hunting for a pollution-free, inflation-free country isn't left with much outside the moon, and it might be well to remember automobiles up there cost 8 million dollars apiece.

the country do happen to locate a place that meets their standards, a country with no pollution, no inflation, no social unrest...just about a perfect

Before they pull up stakes, unplug their T. V. and start to move there, there maybe ought to first find out if that country would have them.

NEWS AND VIEWS . . .

And What Have You

By BOB CRAIG

The statement issued last Wed nesday morning by our local doctors came as quite a bombshell to most local citizens. This is natural since the thought of losing our hospital hits pretty close to all of us.

After talking to a number of people it becomes obvious that the statement issued left a lot of questions unanswered or at least left a lot of people in doubt as to what the problem is.

In the first place, the problem of the $84,500 claimed to have been overpaid by Medicare was not a question of fraud but one of accounting. It seems to us a little strange but Medicare will only pay cost for services performed. But then this is a typical government operation.

The problem comes when you try to decide what is cost. In operating the hospital, the doctors claim one figure as cost and the Medicare auditors claim another. Apparently the Medicare auditors have the last word.

Efforts are now being made to solve this problem with Medicare, but if these efforts fail, the big question is where do we go from here.

It appears to me that we are faced with three choices and none of them very good.

The first would be to just let the hospital close. In our way of thinking this is the worse of the three because of two things. One, our people want and deserve medical service and without a hospital this is next to impossible. The other is the economical impact the closing would have on Hamlin.

The second choice might be to find some other doctors who would come in and run the hospital under the present arrangement. But this choice is really more wishful thinking than anything else because doctors are just too hard to find.

The third choice seems to be forming a hospital district which would take over and run the hospital with the taxpayers underwriting any losses sustained in the operation of the hospital.

When you get right down to it, this third choice is the only practical one if something is not worked out with Medicare so that the present arrangement can be continued.

But even this choice is not without many problems. The biggest of these, at least at the present time, would seem to be the voters' disfavor of voting themselves another tax.

Most of the other problems are technical and it is likely that a good many conferences would have to be held with Medicare officials, other hospital officials, the local doctors and experts in the field of hospital

Like everyone else I have about had it up to here with taxes but in light of the economic impact the closing of the hospital would have on Hamlin, I would have to support such a tax if there seemed to be no other choice. I am convinced that in the long run this would be the cheapest way out

from the standpoint of paying taxes. If the hospital were to close I am afraid that the loss of income to Hamlin, both from the standpoint of the local payroll and the number of people who come to Hamlin for medical attention and trade with the local merchants while here, would create an even more serious problem

Part of this loss would be reflected in the ability to pay the present city. county and school taxes. And for those left to pay these taxes it is quite possible that they might see their share coming to more than what a hospital district tax might be.

Let us hope that the current crisis can be solved, but if it comes down to it, I hope you will think a long time before you let Hamlin be without a hospital.

The second big Sidewalk Bazaar will be held here Saturday as the Retail Trade Committee of the BCD has extended a special invitation to all of the people of the area to come take part in this big downtown Garage Sale.

Called by various names, Sidewalk Sale, Sidewalk Bazaar or Flea

Market, the big day is expected to draw people from all over this area to town Saturday. It is the hope of the committee chairman, Joe Cortez, that everyone will bring their odds and ends to town that day for the big sale.

Special arrangements are being made for the downtown merchants to assist in finding places for the tables and booths of those taking part.

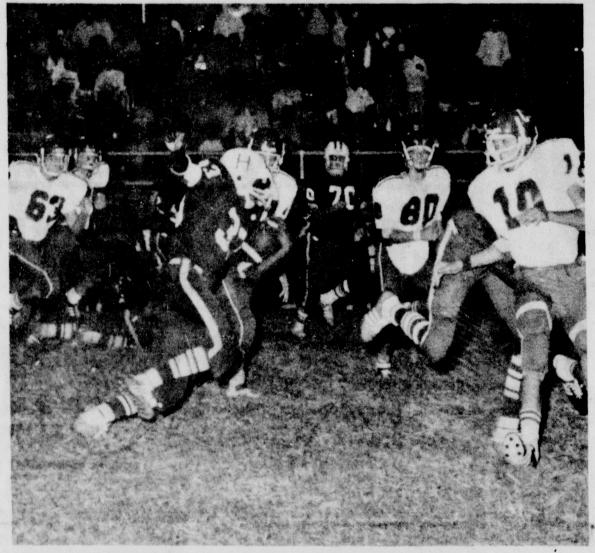

In conjunction with the big day the local merchants are taking part by offering special buys during this one day. They will be out on the sidewalks ioining the individuals and families, with their many bargains.

The merchants planning the big

it is also the hope of the Retail Trade group that more people will bring their goods to town for this special sale.

Pipers-Bulldogs to Play At Coahoma Friday At 8

The Pied Pipers will travel to Coahoma Friday evening to take on the Coahoma Bulldogs with the kickoff set for 8 p.m. The Pipers will still be looking for their first win of the season while Coahoma will be going into the game with a 2-1 record.

Last Friday the Bulldogs defeated Rotan 38-6 and the Pipers lost to Childress Saturday, 24-8. The Bulldogs are currently tied for fifth place in the area Class AA ratings.

Mostly a senior ball club, the Bulldogs will be playing a number of players who took part in the 34-0 romp over Hamlin last year. Quarterback Roland Beal, a 175-pound junior, is back again. He carried the ball six times last year for 77 yards and passed eight times, completing two for

The Tri-County Education Coop has been formed by the public schools of Fisher, Jones. and Stonewall Counties. General offices will be in Stamford.

The counselor, Mrs. Mona Conger met with the parents of the pre-school children on Wednesday Sept. 15 in the Primary School Cafetorium. At that time Mrs. Conger discussed the goals of the program with the parents. Appointments were set up for the first evaluation of the 3, 4, and 5 year old children.

The purpose of developmental early childhood education programs for exceptional children is to provide instructional educational services to children 3, 4, and 5 years old who need special help before they reach the regular academic program.

Initial screening of all preschool children has been almost completed. Parents whose children are this age and have not been contacted are asked to call the Primary school (576-3881) for an appointment.

The staff consists of 15 Resource Teachers, four teacher-aides, and four Supportive Personnel. It is headed by Pete Lollar, former elementary principal in Anson. The two teachers working with the program in Hamlin are Mrs. Carrie Tucker and Miss Carolyn Gardner, both of Abilene. These teachers have been especially trained for this work.

When classes are organized, time periods will range from a half hour to a half day, depending upon the need of the child Children may come as seldom as once a week or as often as every day. Every child will be taught according to an individual educational plan, drawn up for him from observation and appraisal in-

MAYOR MADDEN SAYS-

No Increase In Taxes Needed for Sewer Bonds

Mayor Hollis Madden said here Tuesday that the $150,000 Sewer Bond Election called here Saturday, Oct. 9, will not require an increase in city taxes. He said that the recent increase in sewer rates will bring in enough revenue to pay off the bonds.

The bond election has been called to finance a sewage treatment plant to meet the requirements of the Texas Water Quality Control Board, the Texas Department of Health and the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration.

About $100,000 of the $150,000 issue will be used for the city's share of the cost of the new plant and for land purchases for the site. The balance of the issue will be used only if necessary to extend the present sewer system. It is the thought of the engineers for the city that the federal government is likely to require the city to extend its sewer service before approving the project.

If the additional monies are not needed the bonds will not be

Madden said that there would be no need for a tax increase unless the government comes up with more projects that the city must undertake. He pointed out that in the past two years the city has been required to

Eighth Grade Whips Sweetwater Tuesday, 26-6

The Hamlin Eighth grade football team rolled over the Sweetwater Eighth grade here Tuesday evening, 26-6. The local Seventh grade was defeated by the Sweetwater Eighth grade "C" team, 18-0.

The two Hamlin teams will travel to Anson Tuesday with the Seventh grade playing at 5:30 and the Eighth grade at 7.

The Eighth grade dropped Sweetwater in the endzone for a two point safety to open the scoring and then Daniel Willis returned the following kickoff back 60 yards for a touchdown. Gerald Rodgers recovered a Hamlin fumble in the endzone for the two points.

Willis scored again in the second period with Raymond Jordan passing to Gary Mayes for the two pointer. A pass from Rodgers to Mayes was good for the final touchdown with Mayes running 60 yards for the score. Willis carried in for the two pointer.

Sweetwater got on the scoreboard late in the game but failed to make their two point

The Seventh grade made inside the Sweetwater 10 twice but failed to get for the score. The first time they fumbled on the eight and the second time they were stopped on the one.

Neinda Philosopher Has Advice for People Who Want to Leave the U.S.

Editor's note: The Neinda Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Route One has some reflections on the state of the United States this week, approximately.

Dear editar:

A man who can't find something to complain about in this country just isn't trying, but some people, according to an article I read in a newspaper last night when I found out the new television season is about the same as the last one, have so much to complain about they'd like to move out.

Twelve percent of the population, according to a Gallup poll, would like to pull up stakes and move to another country. They say there's too much pollution, too much inflation, too much social unrest. etc. a the United States.

I got to thinking. Where would they go, for example, to escape pollution? There's not a major river in the world that isn't polluted, from the Thames in England to the Rhine in Germany to the Seine in France.

The Nile, the Danube, you name Americans who want to leave it, it's polluted. Why, I read just the country do happen to locate last night that they once a place that meets their stanbeautiful lakes of Switzerland dards, a country with no are so polluted all swimming pollution, no inflation, no social has been banned and circuses won't even let their elephants place. wash off in them.

How about inflation? According to figures I've got right here in front of me, in the last five years inflation in the U.S. has increased living costs 25 percent. In Japan the increase has been 30 percent, in England 32 percent, in Brazil 40 percent. Rents have risen 40 percent in France, meat has gone up 58 percent in England, 33 percent in Australia. Hospital costs have skyrocketed all over the world except in some parts of any hospitals. And so it goes. Anybody hunting for a pollution-free, inflation-free country isn't left with much outside the moon, and it might be well to remember automobiles up there cost 8 million dollars apiece
